

Principles of Human Communication
Point Loma Nazarene University
COM 100 Section # 9
Spring 2019
1/8 – 4/26

Time: 4:30 - 5:45pm
Days: Tuesday & Thursday
Location: Liberty Station 203
Units: 3
Final exam: regular class time
Instructor: Kelly Togerson
Instructor e-mail: ktogerson@yahoo.com

I do not have office hours on campus. The best way to contact me is e-mail. Whenever you e-mail me please include your full name, class you are in and school. I teach at several colleges so this information helps me address your question quickly!

Course Description

This course offers an opportunity to learn and apply, in daily life, the practical principles of communication. Emphasis is placed on psychological, social, cultural, and linguistic factors, which affect person-to-person interaction. This course is designed to help students improve their communication in both personal and professional context. Attention is given to human perceptions, interpersonal dynamics, and patterns of inference, listening, and verbal and visual symbols.

Course Objectives:

- Students will learn a wide variety of communication settings, including verbal and nonverbal communication theory, interpersonal communication, small group communication, and public speaking.
- Students will select and research appropriate topics for a variety of speech assignments.
- Students will demonstrate speech communication skills through participation in a variety of oral communication exercises.
- Students will demonstrate critical, analytical listening in communication and public speaking.
- Students will improve their ability to utilize the skills necessary to be a competent communicator.

- Students will increase their understanding of his or her own communication behavior.
- Students will increase their understanding of other's communication behavior.
- Students will improve their ability to demonstrate conflict resolution skills.

Major Course Concepts Covered

The process of communication. Communication competence. Communication and the self-concept. Elements of human perception. Role of emotions in communication. Nature and impacts of language. Types of non-verbal communication. Improving listening skills. Intimacy and distance in relationships. Supportive and defensive communication climates. Intercultural and gender differences in communication. Managing interpersonal conflicts. Public speaking.

Assignments

All assignments must be typed, double spaced, and turned in on the due date.

NO LATE ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE ACCEPTED.

If you are late and miss the opening discussion or quiz question you may not turn it in later in class. They are due when collected at the beginning of the class.

Exams

Exams will not be rescheduled. If you have an emergency you must let me know before the exam and I will do my best to accommodate you. If you simply do not show up for an exam you will receive a zero. If you are late and miss an exam you will receive a zero for that exam.

Speeches:

Presenting speeches can be a nervous experience, but one that the audience can make more comfortable for any speaker with a few rules. During speeches NEVER walk in or out of the classroom. When speeches are being presented this is not the time to talk with your neighbor, look at your phone, or even catch up on your sleep. NO cell phones etc... will be allowed. If you engage in any behaviors that I deem to be rude or disrespectful (even checking your phone) I will lower your speech grade by one letter grade.

Special Accommodations

While all students are expected to meet the minimum standards for completion of this course as established by the instructor, students with special needs may require academic accommodations. At Point Loma Nazarene University, these students are requested to file documentation during the first two weeks of the semester with the Academic Support Center (ASC), located in the Bond Academic Center. This policy assists the University in its commitment to full compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the American with Disabilities Act. Section 504(a) prohibits discrimination against students with special needs and guarantees all qualified students equal access to and benefits of PLNU programs and activities. Once the student files documentation, the ASC will contact the student's instructors and provide written recommendations for reasonable and appropriate accommodations to meet the learning needs of the individual student.

General Education:

This course is one of the components of the General Education Program at Point Loma Nazarene University, under the category of "Developing Cognitive Abilities." By including this course in a common educational experience for undergraduates, the faculty supports the pursuit of personal awareness and skill development, focusing on the analytical, communication, and quantitative skills necessary for successful living in modern society.

Grading Policy

Homework & in class assignments	50%
Autobiographical Speech	20%
Informative Speech	20%
Final	10%
Total	100%

Grading Scale

100-90% = A	Excellent performance. Work is exemplary and worthy of emulation by others
89-80% = B	Above average performance. All parts of the assignment are complete and exhibit a complete understanding and an ability to apply concepts
79-70% = C	Average performance. Accomplishes only the minimum requirements. Written communication is at an acceptable level.
69-60% = D	Below Average. Demonstrates understanding at the most rudimentary level. Work is minimally passing.
59-0% = F	Failing. Work is not passing, characterized by incompleteness, unsatisfactory demonstration of understanding an application.

PLNU Mission To Teach ~ To Shape ~ To Send

PLNU provides a foundational course of study in the liberal arts informed by the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. In keeping with the Wesleyan tradition, the curriculum equips students with a broad range of knowledge and skills within and across disciplines to enrich major study, lifelong learning, and vocational service as Christ-like participants in the world's diverse societies and cultures.

FERPA POLICY

In compliance with federal law, neither PLNU student ID nor social security numbers will be used in publicly posted grades or returned assignments without student written permission. You, the student, will be the only person given information about your progress in class unless you have designated others to receive it in the Information release section of the student portal.

FINAL EXAMINATION POLICY

Successful completion of this course requires taking a final examination on its scheduled day. The final examination schedule is posted on the Class Schedules site. No requests for early exams or alternative days will be approved.

PLNU COPYRIGHT POLICY

Point Loma Nazarene University, as a non-profit educational institution, is entitled by law to use materials protected by the US Copyright Act for classroom education. Any use of those materials outside the class may violate the law.

PLNU ACADEMIC HONESTY POLICY

Students should demonstrate academic honesty by doing original work and by giving appropriate credit to the ideas of others. Academic dishonesty is the act of presenting information, ideas, and/or concepts as one's own when in reality they are the results of another person's creativity and effort. A faculty member who believes a situation involving academic dishonesty has been detected may assign a failing grade for that assignment or examination, or, depending on the seriousness of the offense, for the course. Faculty should follow and students may appeal using the procedure in the university Catalog. See Academic Policies for definitions of kinds of academic dishonesty and for further policy information.

PLNU ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION POLICY

Regular and punctual attendance at all classes is considered essential to optimum academic achievement. If the student is absent from more than 10 percent of class meetings, the faculty member can file a written report which may result in de-enrollment. If the absences exceed 20 percent, the student may be de-enrolled without notice until the university drop date or, after that date, receive the appropriate grade for their work and participation. See Academic Policies in the Undergraduate Academic Catalog.

GENERAL EDUCATION:

This course is one of the components of the General Education Program at Point Loma Nazarene University, under the category of "Developing Cognitive Abilities." By including this course in a common educational experience for undergraduates, the faculty supports the pursuit of personal awareness and skill development, focusing on the analytical, communication, and quantitative skills necessary for successful living in modern society.