COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

The aspired “learning outcome” for you, a student in this course – World Literature (Literature 350) – is that by the end of this course you will be enabled to:

1. Closely read and critically analyse texts in their original languages and/or in translation;
2. Recall, identify and use fundamental concepts of literary study to read and discuss texts, e.g.,
 - a. Standard literary terminology,
 - b. Modes/genres of literature,
 - c. Elements of literary genres,
 - d. Literary periods (dates, writers, characteristics, and important developments),
 - e. Contemporary critical approaches,
 - f. Extra-literary research,
3. Analyse the social, cultural, ethnic, gendered, and/or historical contexts of the works and their authors, and connect the texts with your own lives.
4. Create (synthesis, evaluation) detailed and informed textual analysis of literary works employing secondary sources and applying concepts of literary study and literary theory.

A WORD TO THE STUDENT FROM THE PROFESSOR

Literature 350, World Literature, is a general education course designed to acquaint you, the student of higher education, with selective works universally acknowledged as "classics," i.e., "Great Works." This particular course features works from the 18th century up through the modern era and is one of the components of the General Education Program at Point Loma Nazarene University, under the category Developing Cognitive Abilities, namely “Seeking Cultural Perspectives.” By including this course in a common educational experience for undergraduates, the faculty of P.L.N.U. support the pursuit of personal awareness and skill development, focusing on the analytical, communicative, and quantitative skills necessary for successful living in society.

TEXTS

The basic text used in this course is the Norton's Anthology, Western Literature (Volume 2), 8th ed. In addition, three paperbacks are required: Pirandello's Henry IV (which you can read on the web if you choose), Dostoevsky's novel Crime and Punishment, both available in our book store, and Ibsen's Ghosts (which you can also find on the web). You need not, of course, purchase these books from our bookstore, but it is essential that you obtain the edition of Crime and Punishment (ISBN No. 978-0-451-53006-6), for otherwise it will be difficult for you to find the pages referenced in class. Dostoevsky's "The Grand Inquisitor" and Andre Gide's "The Prodigal Son" will be passed out in class as separate hand-outs; i.e., they need not be purchased.

READINGS FOR THE SEMESTER

WORK	AUTHOR
1. Madame Bovary	Gustav Flaubert
2. Faust ("Prologue in Heaven") – and other selected portions --	Johann von Goethe
3. "An Essay on Man"	Alexander Pope
3. Candide	Voltaire
4. Crime and Punishment	Fyodor Dostoevsky
5. Notes from Underground	Fyodor Dostoevsky
6. "The Grand Inquisitor"	Fyodor Dostoevsky
7. Ghosts	Henrik Ibsen
8. The Cherry Orchard	Anton Chekov
9. Henry IV	Luigi Pirandello
10. "The Return of the Prodigal Son"	Andre Gide
11. The Metamorphosis	Franz Kafka
12. "Requiem"	Anna Akhmatova
13. The Good Woman of Setzuan	Bertolt Brecht
14. Matryona's House	Alexander Solzhenitsyn

AND SO WHO CARES ANYWAY --AND WHY?

The above-mentioned works are all considered "classics," because they were created by artistic writers of singular genius. They have not, however, found universal acclaim merely because of creative form, but also because of profound combination of form and content. Importantly, each work has something significant to contribute to our understanding about the essence of life, society, God, the world, man and woman, and the interwoven relationships each has with the other. In other words, these works are "stories" about you and me and the complex, problematic, oftentimes painful, yet beautiful and exciting world in which we live.

As you would expect, many of these works (stories) will not be "easy" reading; i.e., they are not "soap-opera" level entertainment. Indeed, a cursory reading will rarely suffice for a thorough understanding of these works. Rather, in order to properly gain insight and appreciation into these works, you may well find it necessary to read each work thoughtfully and then to review what you have read. By engaging in this practice, you will be training yourself to read with an ever increasing level of comprehension, a skill that you will take with you throughout your future life both as a reader (of any type of literature including the Bible) and as a viewer of other media forms, such as the film medium. Indeed, developing the ability to think critically, as we will be doing together, will be an important contribution to your life in whatever field you may find yourself.

To test your understanding of any respective work, you should discipline yourself to retell [verbally and pictorially] work in your own mind. If you can do that [i.e., if you can see (visualize) it], you will not only know the story, you will also be able to the work when we subject it to our class discussion. Such an approach is especially recommended for those students who desire a grade which would indicate superior achievement and mastery of the material handled in this course.

More specifically, this course is intended to introduce you to samples of some of the greatest works of literature ever produced by thinking and creating artists, throughout various parts of our world, a world which, as you are well aware, is becoming increasingly smaller and complex. Because these works are masterpieces, (the list of classics is not codified and is continually expanding as we are introduced to writers heretofore ignored or silenced), it is hoped that your learning will not be an esoteric learning experience in an "ivory tower." On the contrary, these works should stimulate your mind and your independent thinking. My personal goal is to engage you in a close examination of some of the tough, but essential (universal), questions and issues that impact all our lives, i.e., aspects of life which all humans commonly share. At the same time, you will become well versed, it is hoped, in some of the most noted masterpieces of all world literature. And all this we do together as a community of learners, meaning we will be experiencing these new worlds of thought together in a shared community experience.

Finally, this course is designed to help you grow both intellectually and spiritually, and also to assist you in coming to a deeper understanding -- albeit at times, perhaps, a confused, painful and frustrating understanding -- and love of God, of yourself and of others, as well as of the world we live in, thereby enriching your life while also preparing you for a life of continued learning and thought.

GRADING

The grade you receive in this course is based on three criteria: 1) the periodic and unannounced (but virtually daily) quiz; 2) the mid-term; and 3) the final examination. The mid-term will cover the first seven-plus weeks of the term; the final examination will cover the last eight. The final examination will not be comprehensive but rather will cover only the material handled in the last seven-plus weeks (post-mid-term material). Quizzes cover the assigned reading for any given day and are objective in nature, geared to reward you for having read the material when assigned. You will have approximately 14 –16 quizzes, which will result in an average quiz grade. This, in turn, will constitute a third of your grade along with the two examinations.

NOTE

"QUIZZES CANNOT BE MADE UP SO PLEASE DON'T ASK"

If you must miss a class (or choose to miss) a quiz, you will receive a grade of "0" for that quiz, which computes to a "-5" in the grading computation. (For a detailed description of how this grade is computed, please see the explanation at the end of this syllabus.) Consideration for exigent circumstances is made in that I will drop your TWO lowest quiz grades when computing the quiz grade average.

And so I repeat:

"QUIZZES CANNOT BE MADE UP SO PLEASE DON'T ASK"

CHEATING

And one more thing you are not to do is cheat. So, please don't. If you must sell your soul, do it for something of greater significance. In any event, the result of cheating on a quiz will be a grade of "-11" for that quiz. Cheating on either the mid-term or the final exam will result in an "F" for that exam and the lowering of grade by one level.

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATIONS

While all students are expected to meet the minimum standards for completion of this course as established by the instructor, students with disabilities may require academic accommodations. At Point Loma Nazarene University, these students are requested to file documentation during the first two weeks of the semester with the Academic Support Center (ASC), located in the Bond Academic Center. This policy assists the University in its commitment to full compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act. Section 504 (a) prohibits discrimination against students with special needs and guarantees all qualified students equal access to and benefits of PLNU programs and activities. Once the student files documentation, the ASC will contact the student's instructors and provide written recommendations for reasonable and appropriate accommodations to meet the individual learning needs of the student.

EXPLANATION OF THE GRADING SYSTEM

As noted above, your final grade comprises three components: a quiz average, a mid-term and a final. To come to a final grade, I translate, first of all, your quiz grades into numerical equivalents and then arrive at an average. In this system, an "A" equates to 11 points; an "A-" to 10; a "B+" to 9; a "B" to 8; a "B-" to 7; a "C+" to 6; a "C" to 5; a "C-" to 4; a "D+" to 3; a "D" to 2; a "D-" to 1; and an "F" to 0. Importantly, a quiz grade of "0" equates to -5 points, but again, I drop the three lowest quizzes, so this should not be a problem to the conscientious student.

A sample of how the quiz grade would be arrived at is as follows. Assume you had five quizzes (after having the three lowest dropped) with the following grades:

A	(11)
B-	(7)
C+	(6)
A-	(10)
B	(8)

First Step: $11 + 7 + 6 + 10 + 8 = 42$

Second Step: $42 \text{ divided by } 5 \text{ quizzes} = 8.4$

Third Step: Assume then a MidTerm grade of "C" and a Final Exam grade of "B":

Fourth:

- a) Quizzes (8.4) +
- b) Midterm (5) +plus
- c) Final (8)

$8.4 + 5 + 8 = 21.4$

$21.4 \text{ Divided by three (Quizzes, MidTerm \& Final)} = 7$

Final Grade = B-
