Conclusions Drawn from Data:

We are pleased that the students in our World Civilizations courses are far exceeding the minimum average in all categories. Our students are consistently achieving the goals set by this learning outcome. Across the board, student averages continue to be very consistent with prior semesters, and we are pleased that they have stayed strong even with all of the disruptions of the COVID-19 pandemic during the 2020-2022 school years.

Changes to be Made Based on Data:

We do not see any changes to make at this time, but will continue to focus on the types of learning that make these results so strong. In Fall 2019, we slightly changed the assessment prompt to better align with the learning outcome (particularly the inclusion of the words "by diverse groups in global and/or cross-cultural contexts"). If anything, we believe that this change will continue to result in even stronger student responses, since it gives more clarity to the assessment prompt.

Rubrics Used

History General Education (2.C) Learning Outcome Assessment Rubric

History assessment prompt beginning Fall 2019
When you look back over this entire course, which 3 historical events (or ideas/themes) faced by diverse groups in global and/or cross-cultural contexts are the most important to not forget? Given what you learned from the readings and lectures, describe and analyze each of them and explain their global significance. Make your case for why these should always be taught in world history courses.

Assessment prompt before Fall 2019:

When you look back over this entire course, which 3 historical events (or ideas/themes) do you think are the most important to not forget? Given what you learned from the readings and lectures, describe and analyze each of them and explain their global significance. Make your case for why these should always be taught in world history courses.
